Share the Math!

The world runs on mathematics

Throw out any image in your mind of the reclusive mathematician, locked away crunching numbers, arranging proofs and studying theorems. Or maybe you think a math degree is for teaching at high school. The fact is, math is everywhere in the professional world.

From law to national security, finance to medicine, animation to politics, virtually every industry involves math. And people with math know-how are paid well for their skills.

WeUseMath.org aims to help students answer the question, "What is this good for?" Help us spread the word. Share the Math!

(we just need more of it)
